Dear New Transfer Student

Welcome to the University of Arizona! Transfer Student Services will be conducting a series of optional orientation sessions for new transfer students created just for you. We invite you to join us in the Transfer Student Orientation – Part II: The Important Stuff You Need to Know.

Transfer Student Orientation (Part I) begins with the online academic tour and includes meeting with your academic advisor. It includes the evaluation of your previous course work, information about your major and college, and provides you with the program information necessary for you to register for fall semester classes. It is a mandatory part of your registration and must be completed. If you have not completed the online academic tour for transfer students or met with your academic advisor please refer to the Next Steps Center at nextsteps.arizona.edu

Transfer Student Orientation – Part II will cover essential information to help you quickly adapt to the UA. You will learn academic policies and procedures as well as information on how to manage your GPA. Another component of the orientation will include the opportunity to learn how to effectively use UAccess and D2L (Desire to Learn) which are two critical technologies used by students and staff. University professionals will inform you about valuable resources that are available to assist you as you become a successful Wildcat. Last but not least, get answers to your remaining questions by speaking with former transfer students who have successfully made their transition to UA Wildcats!

While this is an optional event, we encourage your participation and hope that you will join us. You will be able to register for one of the sessions listed below by clicking on the following link: <http://bit.ly/TransferOrientation2>.
