

New Course for Spring 2012

Team and Organizational Leadership, A ED 409/509

Offered by

The Department of Agricultural Education

Description:

- Principles and practices in planning, developing, conducting, and evaluating leadership programs for agricultural groups. The intended audience is the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences (CALs) students.
- The course focuses on helping students better understand themselves and others; improving group communication; becoming effective leaders and members of groups; improving leadership and personal development skills; assessing leadership situations, determining and administering appropriate leadership strategies, and evaluating results.

Days: Tuesdays and Thursdays

Time: 12:30 p.m.—1:45 p.m.

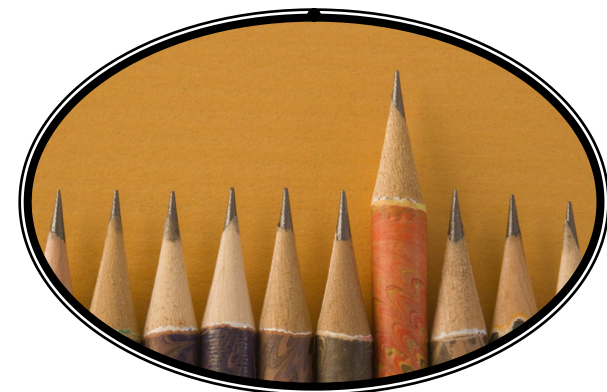

Location: ILC 141

Instructor: Dr. Robert Torres, Professor and Head

Agricultural Education
University of Arizona

Learning • Discovery • Engagement • Leadership

S
P
R
I
N
G
2
0
1
2