Honors Student Clubs (Students Only):

Honors students have many opportunities for getting involved with Honors student groups such as the Honors College Ambassadors, Honors Mentor Association, Honors Student Council, and more. Come and learn about the many vibrant Honors student groups that may be calling your name!

Scholarship Opportunities at UA and Beyond:

Honors students might want to know about UA-specific awards that can support undergraduate study. They should also learn about nationally competitive scholarships that are administered in The Honors College (such as the Rhodes, Goldwater, Udall, Boren, Fulbright, and the like). Jeff Thibert, Scholarship Advisor in The Honors College's Office of Nationally Competitive Scholarships, will lead this session.

Honors Student Panel (Students Only):

Honors students, are you curious about what it is really like to be an Honors student at the UA? Come meet current Honors students, hear about their experiences, and ask any questions you want!

High School vs. College (Students Only):

Honors students have successfully navigated high school; how different will college be? What are some important things to know about the transition to college, both academically and socially? Cheree Meeks, First Year Program Coordinator in The Honors College, will offer insights about starting our college experience off right.

Career Development and Internship Opportunities:

It's never too early to begin exploring career possibilities! Honors College staff members will fill you in on career and professional development opportunities specifically for Honors students. The Honors College helps students discover career options, learn about and prepare for medical school, law school, and other graduate programs, and make the most of internship opportunities. Session leaders will also discuss the Honors Civic Engagement Teams, a unique way for students to develop marketable skills while gaining real-world experiences beyond the classroom.

Research Opportunities:

What is research? How can I get involved with research at the University of Arizona? What does research look like in the sciences? What does it look like in the humanities? How about in the social sciences, or engineering, or business, or the arts, or education? Come learn about the myriad of opportunities available for engaged students to delve into research as early as the first semester of college.

Parent Chat with the Dean (Parents Only):

Honors Parents can talk with the Dean Patricia MacCorquodale about what they and their students can expect from their connection to The Honors College. This session will be interactive, so come with your questions!

Study Abroad:

Are you thinking about studying abroad during your undergraduate career? Come to this session to learn about Honors-specific study abroad opportunities (in Guatemala, Germany, Greece, Singapore, and Namibia), as well as a range of other study abroad programs for Honors and non-Honors students alike.

Honors Parent Panel (Parents Only):

What is it like to be an Honors parent? How can you best navigate the transition that both you and your student will undergo in the next few months? Interact directly with Honors parents who have been in your shoes in the past few years, anticipating the beginning of their students' transition to The Honors College at The University of Arizona.

How to Talk to Faculty:

Honors students enter college with a proven track record of academic success, yet many feel uncertain, and even shy, about engaging directly with faculty members. Connecting with faculty can be among the most rewarding experiences college students can have- they can become mentors and serve as references, among other things- so come to this session if you are eager to hear about making the most of relationships with faculty members. Honors faculty and students will be on hand to offer their advice on the subject.
