WATER RESOURCES RESEARCH CENTER

The 2013 Montgomery & Associates Summer Writing Internship at the WRRC

The University of Arizona's Water Resources Research Center is offering a summer internship to a student interested in gaining experience writing about environmental and water issues. The internship is supported by Montgomery & Associates, an Arizona-based consulting firm specializing in hydrology and water resource issues. The selected intern will contribute to research and writing for an issue of Arroyo, the annual WRRC publication that focuses on a critical Arizona water issue. Arroyo is recognized as source of objective, accurate and understandable information and reaches a wide audience that includes policy makers and water professionals as well as the interested public.

The topic selected for the 2013 Arroyo is the value of water. It will look into prices of water, "virtual water" and non-monetary values, including the value of water in the environment.

Enrolled students in good standing at the University of Arizona, Arizona State University, and Northern Arizona University are eligible. The intern will work 20-25 hours per week during June and July, at a rate of $10.00 to $14.00 per hour depending on experience.

The intern will work at the WRRC offices in Tucson. The successful applicant will be responsible for his/her own accommodations.

The 500-1,000 word writing sample may be on any topic; however, it should not be a technical report. The writing sample should avoid jargon and be understandable by general readers. Applicants are encouraged to look at previous issues of Arroyo on the WRRC website at <http://wrrc.arizona.edu/publications/arroyo>.

The letter of recommendation should come from a faculty member familiar with applicant's writing.

Graduating Student & Alumni Career Day

Mark your calendar for Friday, April 26, 2013. This is a career fair for graduating students and alumni seeking permanent positions in the fields of Education and Nonprofits. Regarding Education, in addition to teachers, this can mean accountants, human resources and computer techs. The primary interviewing season for teachers is spring semester when school districts actively recruit. Educators interested in careers in education will have opportunities to interview with potential employers during this event in the Student Union Memorial Center

For students interested in a career in the nonprofit sector, this is a broad field with opportunities across the board. Oftentimes, working in nonprofits can offer opportunities for students and recent college graduates to stretch career-wise in ways that are not readily available in the more structured environments common to large corporations. The nonprofit sector includes organizations that work to fill gaps left by government and business sectors by directly or indirectly working with communities.

The nonprofit sector is comprised of organizations working towards a better world, as defined by each of these organizations' missions. Within the nonprofit sector, organizations have missions that directly contrast with one another — for example organizations on opposing sides of social or environmental issues. But the beauty of working within the nonprofit sector is that anyone can find a cause they believe in and work (actually get paid!) to represent the goals of that particular organization.

Bring your resume to the Third Floor Ballroom of the UA Student Union Memorial Center on Friday, April 26th, 2013, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and see what opportunities might be waiting for you!
