

APPLY TO THE LEADLOCAL UNDERGRAD INTERNSHIP EXPERIENCE

LeadLocal sets you apart.

Your life isn't easy -- classes, internships, volunteering, and the pressure to land your dream job. The competition is tough and you need to show your edge. What makes you stand out from the crowd?

This isn't your normal internship experience.

Based in experiential learning, LeadLocal provides hands-on, community based internships for high level undergraduates who want to make a difference.

LeadLocal gives you the opportunity to complete a real consulting project for a local small business or non-profit under the guidance of a young professional in our community. You receive coaching, networking, and the chance to show what you're made of -- so when you're looking for that next opportunity, you can point to your success on a real consulting project.

POSITION YOURSELF FOR SUCCESS:

- Work on a real project with real results
- Differentiate yourself from the crowd
- Build a network of diverse local professionals
- Develop advanced communication, team building, and leadership skills that are attractive to employers
- Earn college credit (if approved by your department)
- Professional evaluation and certificate of completion

DO YOU HAVE WHAT IT TAKES?

You must be:

- Willing and able to commit to the weekly time requirement
- In good academic standing
- Invested in giving back to the community
- Able to demonstrate professionalism, critical thinking, good communication skills, and learner agility throughout the application process
