

WORK IN ALASKA SUMMER 2019

We are recruiting for the position of RFI (Raw Fish Inspector) QA. We are a seafood processing facility in Bristol Bay, AK. The main duties of the RFI role are to inspect boats and salmon temperatures as we receive deliveries at our dock; other tasks include working to fill and to move totes of ice.

The starting and ending dates are early June through July; usually you can expect to be home by the first week of August, if not the last week in July. Our company does provide airfare, room and board at no expense to you.

Because we operate 24/7, employees can expect to work around 16 hour days during peak season (usually lasting 1.5 - 2 weeks). The RFI, in particular, will experience longer hours than most since the arrival of boats can be sporadic. This is a great opportunity to make overtime money, since our company does pay time and a half, in a short amount of time.

Employment Requirements:

- Must be 18 years of age
- Must apply and complete an application online (not a guarantee of employment)
- Have a valid photo identification and US employment authorization
- Have an original Social Security card (for payroll purposes)
- Speak and understand English (for safety reasons)
- Pass a background check and drug test
- Complete a post offer medical placement questionnaire
