

The University of Arizona, Graduate College and the Writing Skills Improvement Program Announce the Graduate Writing Institute

The Graduate Writing Institute offers a communal learning environment that supports the development of graduate-level writing skills through a customized curriculum designed and taught by the professional instructors of the Writing Skills Improvement Program. Open to all U of A graduate students at no cost, the Institute provides students with resources to develop individual writing skills and work successfully towards completing graduate studies. The Writing Institute is for students working on research and conference papers, Master's theses, or Doctoral dissertations.

Large Group Workshops:

Meet with entire group (50 students, 6 faculty members) for workshops and presentations that address critical writing skills such as Writing Techniques, Literature Review, and Academic Vitae.

Small Group Collaboration:

Meet with small group (8-12 members) specially chosen based on academic fields to workshop writing projects. Learn techniques and provide positive, constructive feedback for fellow writers.

Individual Tutoring:

Meet with a professional tutor to strengthen individual writing skills: 6 one hour sessions during the 3 weeks.

Optional Workshops:

Participate in supplementary workshops to improve writing skills (i.e. Grammar, Punctuation, Library Research, and Grant Writing).

WHEN:

June 4-22, 2012

M, W, F - 9am - 12pm

T-Th - 9am-10am - Optional Writing Workshops;

Individualized tutoring schedules T-TH afternoons
(also available MWF afternoons).

WHERE: University of Arizona

COST: FREE

APPLY: By April 20, 2012 at <http://grad.arizona.edu/gwi/>

CONTACT: Dr. Donna Rabuck (Writing Skills Improvement Program) 621-5849
Cynthia Ann Bjerk-Plocke (Graduate College) 621-7815