

Beth A. Fischer and Michael J. Zigmond
Career and Professional Development Lectures

Internationally acclaimed experts in responsible conduct of research and professional development

Moving through your career:
From graduate school to postdoctoral training to employment

Tuesday, March 8, 2016

1:00-2:30 pm

Thomas W. Keating Bioresearch Building, Room 103

This workshop will focus on such issues as selecting your advisor and your project, seeking the next position, preparing resumes and curriculum vitae, and negotiating. It will be geared toward graduate students and postdocs. Faculty advisors are also welcome to attend.

Writing research papers:
From idea to publication

Wednesday, March 9, 2016

3:00-6:00 pm

Student Union, Kiva Auditorium

This workshop will cover the structure of peer-reviewed research papers and the process of preparing them. Included will be key areas of responsible conduct, including the selection of authors, conflict of interest, plagiarism, and sharing of materials. The workshop will be appropriate for graduate students, postdoctoral fellows, staff, and junior faculty members.

Sponsored by

The Graduate Center, Office for Research & Discovery, and School of Mind, Brain and Behavior