

Paving Your Path to Successful Careers and Relationships Through Communication

Presented by

Jack Harris

Communication skills do make a difference – they are key to conflict resolution, minimizing misunderstandings, interacting well with others, team work, customer service, dealing with differences and achieving meaningful results (in both our professional and personal lives). This presentation is for people who want to communicate more effectively, build better relationships, and understand the power of perceptions and assumptions. In other words, this is for people who want to learn practical skills they can apply to everyday, real-life situations.

Jack Harris conducts training on a variety of topics aimed at Helping Keep Good People Good. Throughout the country, people from professional associations, businesses, non-profit organizations, the health care industry and government agencies have benefitted from his combination of management experience, behavioral science background and a passion for practical solutions. Jack is a Licensed Professional Counselor, a trained mediator, and a Board-Certified Expert in Traumatic Stress. He holds a Master's degree from the University of Arizona.

Wednesday, February 28, 2018

3:00-5:00 pm

Student Union Kiva Auditorium

1303 E University Blvd.

Free and open to the public

Sponsored by

Graduate Center and Postdoctoral Affairs