

I.S.I.S. Belize

...where education is an adventure

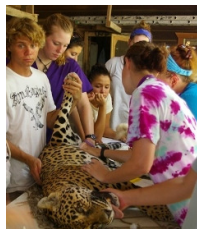

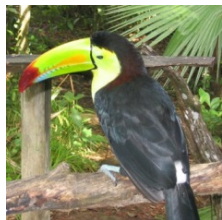

Summer Field School

Sessions 2011

I : June 3 - July 2

II : July 8 - August 6

Are you an adventurous student looking for an extraordinary global learning experience?

Come to Belize.

Do you want hands -on field experience in your area of study?
Distinguish yourself from the competition with a practical field program.

Session I June 3 - July 2

Animal Science in the Tropics (Our most popular class offered both sessions)

Wildlife of Belize: Biology, Medicine and Conservation Approaches

Animal Health & Disease - Veterinary Practice in the Tropics

Globally unique!

Environmental Science - Earth and Water

Carbon Sequestration in Belize Agroecosystems

Watershed Ecosystems and Conservation

Environmental Science - Birds, Bugs and Trees

Tropical Forest Ecology and Conservation

Ornithology in the Tropics - Birds of Belize

Anthropology - Sustainability and Indigenous People

Indigenous Peoples and Politics of the Caribbean and Central America

Sustaining Communities: Development for the Future

Anthropology in Belize - The Amazing Maya

The Maya: Past, Present and Future

Archaeology of Belize: Uncovering Maya History

Program fees are: $3,975. The program fees include two courses, four weeks of housing in a family run resort, transportation to and from classes and travel to and from the airport as a group. It also includes breakfast on weekdays. Questions? creece@isisbelize.com

For course syllabi, additional information, and references:

www.isisbelize.com

Institute for Sustainable International Studies

San Ignacio, Belize, Central America

Reservations: applytoday@isisbelize.com

Summer Field School
Sessions 2011
I : June 3 - July 2
II : July 8 - August 6

Session II July 8 - August 6

Animal Science in the Tropics (Our most popular class)

Animal Health & Disease - Veterinary Practice in the Tropics

Wildlife of Belize: Biology, Medicine and Conservation Approaches

Globally unique!

Biology/Environmental Science - Rivers and Reefs

Watershed Ecosystems: a Conservation Approach

Marine Ecosystems: a Conservation Approach (on South Water Caye)

Tourism/Hospitality/Recreation - Water, Water Everyway

Expedition and Adventure Eco-tourism in the Tropics

Responsible Tourism in Marine Environments

Horticulture/Botany - Plants, Animals and Toxins

Introduction to Tropical Horticulture

Natural Toxins: Central American Flora and Fauna

Program fees are: $3,975. The program fees include two courses, four weeks of housing in a family run resort, transportation to and from classes and travel to and from the airport as a group. It also includes breakfast on weekdays.

One course for two weeks: $3,000. The program fees include one course, two weeks of housing in a family run resort. transportation to and from classes and the airport on arrival and departure. It also includes breakfast on weekdays.

Questions? creece@isisbelize.com

For reservations: applytoday@isisbelize.com

For course syllabi, cost information, accommodations and references:

www.isisbelize.com

Institute for Sustainable International Studies

001-501-668-0930

San Ignacio, Belize, Central America facebook: Study Abroad with ISIS Belize