

Growers House (growershouse.com) Indoor Gardening store is hiring a new team member to work in our young, fast growing Tucson-based business. Growers House focuses on sales of hydroponics, indoor, and greenhouse gardening equipment and supplies. We are currently looking for a part-time employee to head up product testing and comparisons.

At Growers House we often test lights, growing methods, media, and other supplies against each other to find the best equipment for different applications. As we're growing quickly, we need help doing this testing. The position is new and hours are relatively flexible. Will probably range from 10-25 hours a week. This position would design tests and conduct the experiments using what equipment we have here including PAR meters, spectrometers, and other equipment. Experience in greenhouse and indoor gardening is a must.

Please send resumes and cover letters to: Nate -- nate@growershouse.com. Please include a short write up about your experiences with growing indoors and in greenhouses as well as experience running scientific experiments.

We will pay $11/hr for this position.
