

RAM 340: CONSERVATION AND SUSTAINABLE AGRICULTURE IN THE SOUTHWEST

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN ...

CONSERVING WILD PLACES AND OPEN SPACES?

SUSTAINABILITY AND THE ENVIRONMENT?

LOCAL FOOD, FARMS, AND RANCHES?

If you are looking for a career working outside and doing science with a direct impact on wildlife, people, and the land, this class is for you!

Spring 2018

Tuesdays and Thursdays,
2:00pm to 3:15pm

3 Units

A class designed to introduce you to current issues in conservation, agriculture, and land management. See conservation in action during field trips to conservation areas and working farms and ranches and interact with land managers who apply science in their everyday work.
