

AMBASSADORS INTERNSHIP

Internship Description

The 2020-2021 BIO5 Ambassador Internship is a unique two semester opportunity offered by the BIO5 institute that will allow undergraduate students from all majors to earn 2 internship credits through the College of Letters Arts and Sciences department (LASC 393/493) or their major. Interns will:

- Learn about the collaboration of business and science
- Learn strategies for science communications
- Attend weekly professional development workshops focused on public speaking, marketing, networking, communications, business etiquette, and more.
- Work with a BIO5 staff mentor of their choice on a project of interest on topics like grant writing, digital marketing, business administration, event planning, etc...
- For the 2020-2021 school year, the Ambassadors internship will be completely virtual

"The BIO5 Ambassador internship was an amazing experience that taught me valuable professional development skills and gave me the opportunity to become a part of an environment that is rich with intelligent and driven people who are eager to pass on their knowledge."

- 2019/2020 Intern Lisbeth Haaheim (third from left)
