

Do you love nature?

Are you considering a career in conservation or natural resource management?

Is diversity important to you?

If you answered yes to all three questions, then apply to the Doris Duke Conservation Scholars Program!

As a DDCSP scholar, you will:

- Complete paid research and internship experiences
- Earn more than $10,000 over the next two summers plus a $1000 summer housing stipend
- Join a national network of environmental leaders
- Gain valuable career skills

To be eligible for the program, you should be a current sophomore attending (or planning to attend) UF, UI, UA, CU, or NCSU in Fall 2014. Applications will be accepted through February 15, 2014 and program activities will begin in June. Qualified freshmen will also be considered for the program.

APPLY NOW!

Visit the national website

<http://programs.ifas.ufl.edu/DDCSP>

Or contact ddcsp@ifas.ufl.edu