Description
This 3 day collaborative event, conducted by the White Mountain Forest Ecosystem Restoration group and the Arizona Section, Society for Range Management, begins with a forest ecosystem restoration conference on Thursday where various speakers will discuss history, decline, and restoration of the forests, followed by a field tour on Friday, and wrapping up with a photo workshop on Saturday.
The field tour will take a look at restoration treatment protocol, vegetative diversity, and recoveries over the last 10 years.
The photo workshop, offered by the University of Arizona Cooperative Extension V Bar V Range Program, and led by

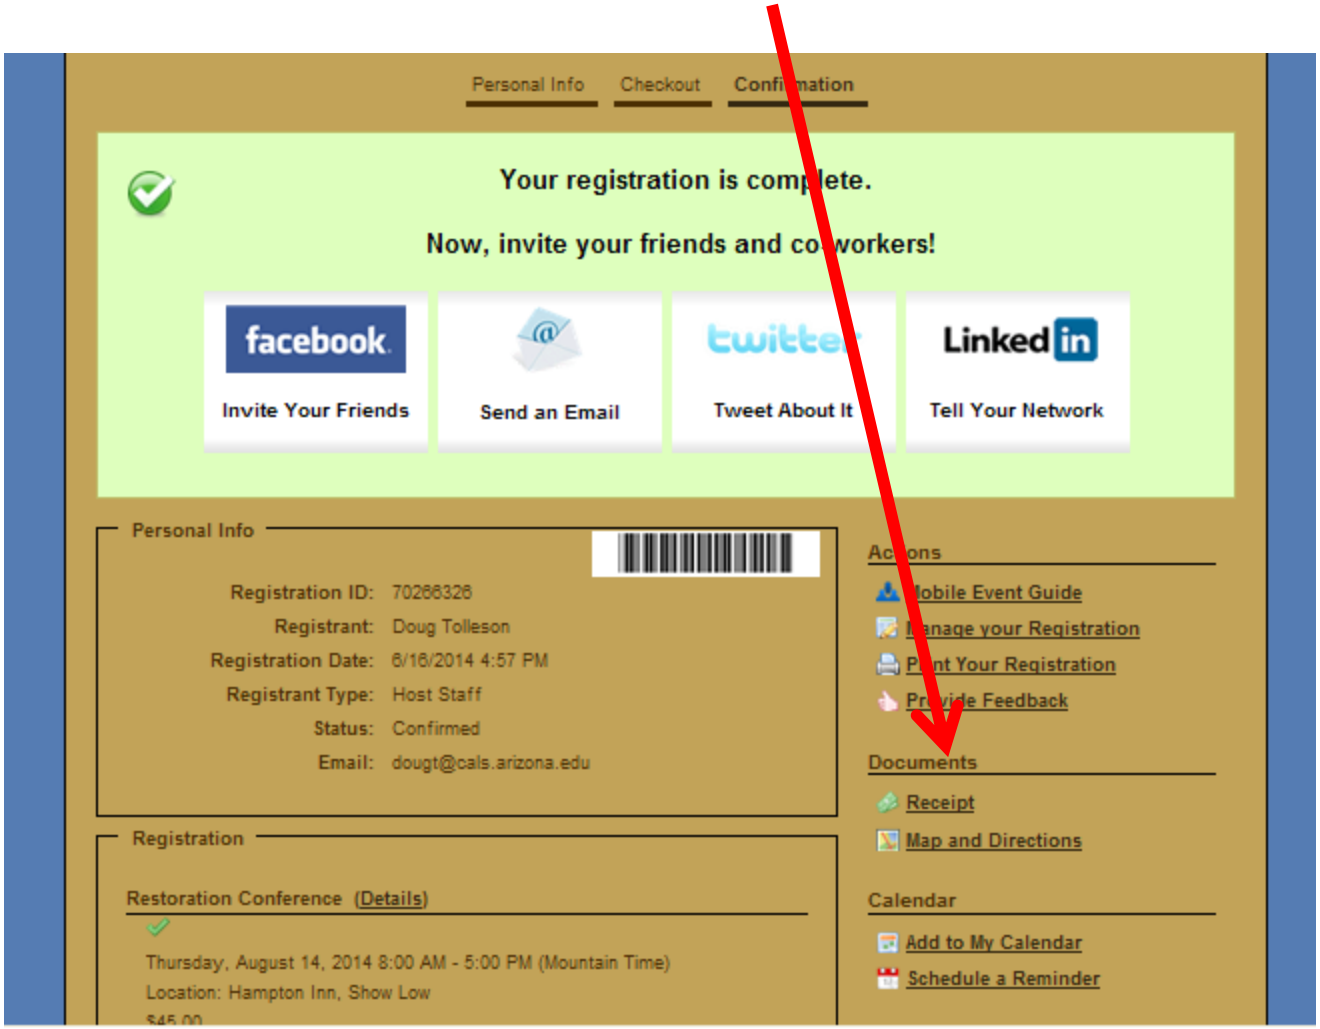
Note: If you want to attend both days, Thur inside and Friday outside, and have meals included, you will need to select these four choices so that we will know you are attending and that we need to plan a meal for you. Meals will be a combination of meat, vegetables, salad, etc... or you can choose not to select these meals and provide your own. It will be more difficult to do that on Friday (i.e. you would need to bring a sack lunch on the bus, plus lunch at Winks will be really good...).

Meals for the photo workshop will also be “bring your own”

At this point you will fill in your contact and credit card information and proceed to checkout.

Note:
The online credit card payment for this event will be listed on your credit card statement with the name UA Navajo Cty Exte.

You will have to ask for a receipt to be emailed, look under “Documents” in this screen



Then look under “actions” in this screen
