Grassland Resilience Workshop Series: Brush Management & Soil Health

This free workshop series will bring together land managers, ranchers, and researchers to learn about the standard management practices in three adjacent watersheds to improve soil health and manage mesquite encroachment. Sessions include a kick-off virtual webinar, and three in-person field visits and workshops. Workshops will feature local experts on the ecological features of the landscape, treatment planning and implementation, and effects of management on soil health, vegetation, and habitat quality. Register for the Virtual Kick-Off Webinar now, save the field trip dates - registration is limited!

Tuesday, October 10th:

NEED INTERVIEWEES

Hello! My name is Arielle O'Connor and I am currently a graduate student within the AETI department. I am studying how academics influence wildlife and range management students perceptions on protected equine.

I am currently looking for wildlife and range management undergraduate students to participate in an interview that would be approximately an hour or less. I will be asking about one's experiences within their degree program as well as their knowledge and opinion on protected equine (wild horses and burros). If you are interested please contact be with the information below. Thank you for your time!

Thank you!
